“escape gap” means a ridged plastic opening with an internal rectangular opening of at least 78 millimetres wide and 44 millimetres high attached into any pot on the lower half of that pot and which provides unobstructed exit for crab or lobster smaller than the escape gap opening dimension, but which does not include the opening or entrance into which any crab or lobster may enter that pot;²

“flap” in relation to the tail from a lobster means any part of the five flaps of the tail fan of any lobster including the telson with anus and left and right uropod, each uropod containing two flaps;

“lobster” means fish of the species Homarus gammarus or any other edible lobster but shall not include fish of the species Nephrops norvegicus;

“mutilated lobster” means a lobster which has been mutilated in such a manner which could hide or obliterate a V notch;

“Nephrops” means shellfish of the species Nephrops norvegicus;

“pot” means any baited pot, receptacle, trap or container with one or more openings or entrances other than a whelk pot or prawn creel and which is capable of being left at sea to catch crab or lobster;

“prawn creel” means an un-weighted basket, small cage, pot, receptacle or container, the base of which does not contain steel bars or weights of any kind, and which contains a hard eye entrance measuring a maximum of 80 millimetres, which may be baited and placed on the seabed for the specific purpose of catching Nephrops;

“recreational potter” means a person who fishes for lobster or crab from a vessel or from the shore using a pot other than a person fishing from a registered fishing vessel in possession of a relevant UK licence with shellfish entitlement;

“recreational sea fishing licence” has the same meaning as in section 3 of the Fisheries Act 2012 and “licence” is to be construed accordingly;

“stock cage” means a cage or pot used to store lobsters, crabs or any other sea-fish in the sea after capture but prior to landing;

“V notch” in relation to a lobster means a marking in the shape of a letter “V” with a depth of at least 5 millimetres cut (for the purpose of identification of particular lobsters) into one or more of the five flaps of the tail fan of any lobster, with the apex of the V positioned inward from the edge of the flap; and “vessel” means a ship, boat, raft or water craft of any description and included non-displacement craft, seaplanes and any other thing constructed or adapted for floating on or being submerged in water (whether permanently or temporarily) and a hovercraft or any other amphibious vehicle.
